Relevant Web Resources

Web Resources relevant for the 'Climate Change and International Security' project.
10 Web-Resources

Climate Policy Tracker for the European Union
The Climate Policy Tracker for the EU is a comprehensive review of policies of EU Member States that affect greenhouse gas emissions. It provides an overview of the policy situation of each Member State broken down by sector and policy area. In...
View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.climatepolicytracker.eu)

Global warming bibliography
The books listed in this bibliography, which is accessible to all, cover a wide range of topics about global warming and views on it. This includes works covering the impact of global warming on the natural world: wildlife and biodiversity, ice and...
View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.kings.cam.ac.uk)

Global Warming Collection
King's College, Cambridge has a growing collection of books on climate change and global warming in its Library. Started in 2007, and now encompassing over 700 books, the collection is wide-ranging in subject matter and global in scope, ranging from...
View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.kings.cam.ac.uk)

Global warming links
Contains a selection of useful external global warming web links
View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.kings.cam.ac.uk)

Global-Warning.org
Global-Warning.org is a project of the National Security Journalism Initiative. The stories, website and multimedia presentations in this project were reported, written and produced by 10 Medill graduate students chosen as McCormick Foundation...
View Web-Resource (Webpage - global-warning.org)

International Alert Climate Change and Conflict Map

102 Countries at Risk. According to International Alert, ?The impact of climate change will make the poorest communities across the world poorer. Many of them are already affected by conflict and instability and thus face a dual risk. International...

View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.international-alert.org)

New Security Beat: The Blog of the Environmental Change and Security Program

Since 1994, the Woodrow Wilson Center?s Environmental Change and Security Program (ECSP) has actively pursued the connections between the environment, health, population, development, conflict, and security. ECSP brings together scholars,...

View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.newsecuritybeat.org)

SecurityCommunity.eu

SecurityCommunity.eu allows interested parties to share their views on EU security and defence issues. They hope to encourage an in-depth exchange between science, business and politics.

View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.securitycommunity.eu)

Social Conflict in Africa Database

With the launch of a new database and web site tool following previously untracked types of social conflict in Africa, the CCAPS program gives policymakers and researchers a new tool to analyze conflict patterns. The Social Conflict in Africa...

View Web-Resource (Webpage - ccaps.strausscenter.org)

World View of Global Warming

The Photographic Documentation of Climate...

View Web-Resource (Webpage - www.worldviewofglobalwarming.org)