President's Corner

Ruth Fisher

By this age, we all have different styles of dress for dances and for that matter, everything else in our lives. We are no longer young and impressionable, which is why the current discussion about dressing for square dances is so emotional for many people. As you know, if you have been reading my articles, at the National Square Dance Convention I attended multiple talks over a few days' time. The talks were primarily aimed at changing our brand identification. The unfortunate reality is if we do not change it effectively, convincingly and quickly, square dancing will soon disappear. We are witnessing more and more consolidation of clubs who can no longer exist on their own, as well as clubs that no longer exist, which is an ominous sign of eventual extinction of all of square dancing. We must change our image if we are going to at least maintain our numbers. If we are successful, we may possibly be able to once again build our membership and not dwindle into oblivion. My son Drew's career and passion is marketing, social media and community building, so "brand development" is a frequent conversation between us. As I was telling him about this article, Drew exclaimed, "Branding is Everything!" There are many aspects to marketing square dancing which were discussed at National. In this article, I am going to limit myself to one of the most controversial, and I believe one of the most crucial.

According to the Callerlab Square Dance Marketing Manual published March 6, 2018 "the only official research on public image of square dancing was conducted by STARworks in 2000." They chose 3 focus groups, 35-55 years of age in 3 areas of the country the South, Middle America and the West Coast (Portland, Oregon). The result of the research was summarized on page 13 as follows:

"Square dancing has an image problem in the general public, particularly among those in the targeted empty nester baby boomer age group. This target population sees square dancing as an out of date, country oriented, for hicks and hillbillies, using old-fashioned music and patronized by senior citizens in fluffy dresses with big hair, big belts and RVs. Most people say they are familiar with square dancing, but their familiarity is with traditional square dancing, not with modern western square dancing. As a result, their image of square dancing is strongly influenced by the traditional square dancing and does not reflect the realities of modern western dance."

The research shows clearly that we have a brand issue and that if we want to reverse the decline, we in our club, district, association, state and nation need to re-image ourselves. Suffice it to say, our brand as square dancers is important to all of us even if we don't usually think about it. If the number of dancers dwindles then the number of venues where we can dance decreases, which leads to fewer callers, which in turn leads to fewer dances, which leads to a further decline in membership, etc.

Do you know that it took one of the H&S past members 2 years before I finally relented to going to my first class? The person who kept urging me to try it was someone I respected and liked at the time. I had tried other things that she suggested, however the picture in my head of the dress was so powerful that it prevented me from even going once, for a very long time. Finally, I did agree to go to one class; thinking to myself, if I don't like it and I probably won't, that will be it. Obviously, I stayed. I was beyond the baby boomer age at the time that I was first introduced to square dancing, however the people in the focus groups did reflect my personal feelings. I knew that nothing was going to get me into short skirts, especially with petticoats. However, as I said earlier, we all have our own personal styles of dress and I am sure that some of you would not want under any circumstance to dress as I do. I am only speaking to the effect that the research showed our traditional clothes have on most non-square dancers or, as I like to think of them, potential new square dancers. When I came to my first class, I was amazed that the people that square danced were far from hicks and were thoughtful, fun loving, well educated people who enjoyed many of the things that I did. I was hooked almost immediately by the fun of dancing to the calls and learning new steps. In retrospect, I think now what a shame it would have been had that square dancer not been so persistent. A lesson to us all.

Since our August board meeting, I have been asked repeatedly what it means if we as a club agree to the Associated Square Dancers ("ASqD") portion of the resolution that states that we are discouraging traditional dress. In the August meeting with one exception, everyone was supportive of this change. We will be addressing all the issues in our October board meeting and in our November General meeting. Fredi as Vice President of ASqD will be leading these discussions. My understanding from our board meeting is that traditional square dance clothing will be permitted, however it will be strongly discouraged. In line with this we will not have experienced square dance clothing sales (or giveaways) at our hall. To do so, would be to implicitly say we would like you to wear the traditional outfit and thus to continue the image out in the community. Hopefully, for those of you who do like wearing traditional clothes you will give the image issue special thought. If you are not willing to give up wearing the clothes because it gives you too much pleasure, think about wearing them less often and then only at Plus, not Mainstream, dances. I will confess the latter is my own thinking, and not necessarily anyone else's. At the Mainstream dances we hopefully will have more newcomers dancing, so at least we are promoting the image less. I want to remind people that watching and enjoying performers in costume is very different from wanting to be in that costume yourself, which is what potential students are looking at. I encourage people that feel strongly in either direction to come to the board meeting on Tuesday, October 15th and particularly the General Meeting on November 19th and we will get into a lively discussion. It is important that we all have an opportunity to voice our feelings and thoughts, as well as listening to those of others.

In our last board meeting, we were talking about how important it is that we support the other clubs in our district by going to their dances as much as possible. We had seven squares for our last dance in August with Jon Jones, due to a large turnout of members of other clubs especially the 12 Honeycombers and Boots & Bows. This was in large contrast to our first dance in September with Darren Gallina, also a very good caller, where we had only three squares and two after the break with only three dancers from other clubs. (At most of our dances we go down by one or two squares after the break). I want to encourage dancers, unless for health reasons you can't stay, to please remain for the additional 45 minutes after the break especially when the dance is poorly attended. The callers do not make enough money to call for the pecuniary compensation. Most of them call for the joy of calling and for the exchange of energy they receive and generate. Let's help them to enjoy calling for R&S by also ending their evening with a full crowd of dancers. To me it is like being at a live theater production. If I leave at the intermission, I am aware that I have figuratively told them they are not worth my time; and if I stay and have enthusiasm until the end, I have rewarded them. That said, thank you to each of you who do faithfully support our dances and thus our club!

I am so pleased and grateful to announce that Amelia Kacena and Julie DaVanzo have agreed to be our new Dance Refreshment chairs. Please contact them to volunteer for November 23 & December 28th. If you would like to help at the desk, please sign the sheet at the desk.

Anniversary Dance Theme

Madeline Sprints, Decorations Chair Anniversary Dance

Hello everyone,

We have a Theme: "New Beginnings" submitted by Nancy Howell.

I want to thank everyone who submitted their suggestions for the anniversary dance themes, and to express how excited we are looking forward to our first anniversary dance as Ribbons & Souls.

See you in a square!

Class

Shan Cretin

Rick Marken

Our Fall Basic/Mainstream and Plus classes are now well underway. Bill Gipson is moving right along, as this session will only be 15 weeks due to Christmas and New Year's both falling on a Wednesday. The Basic/Mainstream class has covered 26 calls while the Plus class has had 9 calls—pretty amazing given that we have only had three classes.

We have 14 to 18 students in the Basic/Mainstream class. The class includes quite a few who are repeat students. Even so, with this many students we need lots of Angels to fill out five or even six squares. The Plus class seems to be settling in with four students so we really need at least a dozen Angels to stay on after the break. Quite a few of our faithful Angels have been out of town so if you are able to join us on Wednesday evenings, please do! The students really appreciate the support, Bill makes sure that everyone has fun, and (thanks to Larry's daughter Cathy and several of our multi-talented Angels and students) there are always delicious home-baked treats at the break.

Hope to see you on Wednesday!

On the Road Again... Visitations

Linda Harris

WHERE WE'VE BEEN

Ten of us went to the Sierra Hillbillies' anniversary dance. Attending were Pam Bailis, Desiree Elliott, Ruth Fisher, Linda Harris, Diane Isaacs, Fredi Levitt & Alan Lubberts, Jerry & Nancy Lippey, and Lee Wilson.

WHERE WE'RE GOING

We have two visitations in October:

The first is to the Honeycombers on Saturday October 5 with Darren Gallina calling.

The second is to the Western Weavers for their 38th anniversary dance on Friday October 11. The caller is Mike Hogan and the cuer is Joe Scarlatella. Pre rounds are at 7:30 and squares begin at 8:00 and end at 10:30. They dance at Joslyn Adult Center at 1301 W. Olive Ave in Burbank. For $10 you get a light buffet, Raffle Gifts — and a great dance!

ASSOCIATED SQUARE DANCERS

Jan Bartholemew,
A Square D Delegate

The publication of the Associated Square Dancers is the Grapevine. There is a new Grapevine out which covers September, October and November. Be sure to pick up one at a dance on the table with the fliers. The Grapevine starts with the President's Message, and ends with a list of officers. Many of the member clubs publish articles there on what their club has been doing, which can be very interesting. The schedules of all the dances for each of the 29 A Square D clubs, plus the venues, are given in one section. Also, there is a section listing all the dances with themes. The Grapevine can be good reading and a useful reference.

The next A Square D dance is the 71st A Square D Anniversary Dance. I am selling ribbons for admission, which cost $10 pre-sale or $12 at the door. Club presidents get in free. Here is a review of the details: The 71st Anniversary Dance will be held on Sunday, October 20. Pre-rounds start at 1:30pm and squares with rounds will be at 2pm – 4:30pm. The level of dancing is Plus, with one A1 tip. The callers will be Pat Carnathan and Mike Seastrom and the cuer will be Bev Oren. The venue is the Hawthorne Memorial Center at 3901 W. El Segundo Blvd., in Hawthorne. Enter the hall via the back parking lot off of Prairie Avenue.

Ruth Michaelson recently shared that she had been in hospital and rehab since August 26. She had a couple of sepsis attacks and was concerned her future is a big ?. We were happy to get a note to let us know that Ruth got home Thursday, September 26! Says Ruth: "UGH! My dancing days are over, but I did teach the electric slide to some of the physical therapy instructors. Thank you all for the cards, emails, and good wishes during that time."

Jerry Neubauer advises that Suzanne is home recuperating from a double whammy: long recovery from root canal surgery and a cracked kneecap from a fall on an uneven sidewalk! We sent Jerry home with lots of good wishes for Suzanne's speedy and full recovery.

Kitchen Witch

Amelia Kacena
Julie DaVanzo

We have two new kitchen witches: Amelia Kacena and Julie DaVanzo. Look for their column in future issues of the Reporter.

We know that Shan Cretin and Emmett Keeler sponsored the dance on Saturday, September 28 — and hosted lovely and delicious refreshments — in honor of their 43rd anniversary and to celebrate Emmett's birthday.
