Overview: Fast Facts for the School Nurse: School Nursing in a Nutshell - This is a concise reference providing quick access to information busy school nurses use every day to perform their duties competently and efficiently. It is written for nurses who are transitioning to a school setting, yet has much to offer more experienced school nurses.

The second edition has been substantially revised to address the Healthy People Initiatives to school age children and their families, and incorporate information about the push towards formal evaluation of school nurses. It discusses new technology and the effects of head trauma and other sports-related injuries on academic performance. A new chapter has been added, Top Ten Timely Topics which deals with issues like getting substitutes and prioritization of tasks for novice and substitute school nurses.

Authored by a nurse with over 25 years of school nursing experience, Fast Facts for the School Nurse is consistently organized for ease of use and written in a bulleted format for information at a glance. It offers straightforward guidelines to the range of daily tasks, nursing responsibilities, and clinical protocols for safe management of common childhood illnesses, accidents and emergencies. The book includes legal and ethical considerations, documentation, high-risk areas in school nursing practice, and the requirements of the Individuals with Disabilities Act. Also covered is the delivery of culturally appropriate care, screening tools, wellness strategies, care plans for children with chronic disorders and special needs, adolescent sexuality, childhood obesity, drug use, and a food allergies ""toolkit.

The guide will also be useful as a supplemental textbook for nursing students studying for state or national certification exams. New to the Second

Hi Frank, I would try a mains charge of the batteries before changing them as when I had the charging problem I thought they were duff but charged them and they maintained well over 12 volts. As all you Experts are around could I indulge and as one question????

We have left the ignition on when stopping the engine a good few times ,so I have purchased a 12 volt Buzzer which I was going to wire the live feed to the ignition light and then earth so that when the light came on on stopping it would sound the buzzer. Does this sound feasible? I have been watching the five day forecast for East Anglia on both this site and ,on my own ISP and they vary so much. Thanks Cathy Tried there before putting my post on! Put the dates in but came back with nothing available! Will keep looking.

Hi M ,Also been looking at a depth sounder for the boat. The Garmin proclaims to read from an area at the side of the boat as well as down. The only thing I am not sure of is the sounder. Thy both come with a transom mount. I have heard people say these can be fitted inside the hull in a bath of oil to give the same effect as a through hull transducer. So perhaps our knowledgeable members can put us both straight and point us in the right direction? Well if the BA are interested they must all be north of the Wroxham Bridge at the moment - captured audience I would have thought - they have only to go through the bridge and they will find them

Watching them this morning bouncing off of each other was something else. Wonder who the hire company is. One is Concerto 4. Sorry can you delete the first two - dont know what happened there. Hi everyone. We have been lurking around for a while getting information ready for our holiday. We are booked on Crown Gem 3 tomorrow for a week. We are both very excited. I Mike have been on the broads quite a few times when I was a kid but not in about the last 8 or 9 years. Craig hasn't been on The Broad's before. We booked Crown Gem from Richardsons because we thought it would be a nice small boat to start with.

We are just a little bit worried about storage space now. Does any one know if there is storage space underneath the seating area? We have made sure our bags can be rolled up when not used and our supplies are in plastic collapsable crates. We are packed up now, just hope were not bringing too much stuff. Fingers crossed for some good boating weather! Well I've finally done it, we pick up our Hampton Safari boat in two weeks, will be morning it at Acle Dyke. We are actually East coast yachtsman, but quite honestly are a little fed up with the weather conditions, it is either too wet, to windy, or just so bloody hot with not a breath of wind and no shade, so as we have enjoyed many holidays hiring boats on the Norfolk broads in the past, have decided to make the Broad's permanent holiday residents.

Have found the Norfolk Broad's forum invaluable, and you certainly will be hearing more from me in the future, if only to ask questions about successfully running and enjoying a boat on the Broad's. Hi can anyone give us any tips on fishing in Brundall. To be the man. You've got to beat the man. When was it filmed? I enjoyed last night's programme but in common with other forumites, would have liked more coverage of the Broad's. I was wondering when it was filmed as you say a lack of people around,also he was in shirt sleeves for some of the time so maybe warm ,but it certainly rained too. Any ideas any one when???? I enjoyed it even though i never knew Hunters was on the Yare. Learn something everyday. Enjoyed the programme and series, yes it would have been nice to see more of the broads but it was about East Anglia. Got to admit it was the only programme in the series the whole family watched and it was nice to pick out places we have visited, the spam and beans brought back memories, and i think i can forgive him his couple of gaffs.

And he caught one more pike than we did. Hi We are looking to replace the wooden strip round the top of our boat with something like a Aluminium with rubber insert profile. Hi Mr Ransome The outline looks great. We are expecting guests so I have to pass this week, would not want to miss otherwise. Nigel, Steve, Vicki - really impressed with the forum. What fatty has done this then? I work for a company that provides fairground rides for hire. George LBB. Hope to see you and Water rail soon. Yes, Goodall Gal is doing just fine. As is her crew! I was out with them for a trip only last week. Good grub, but they made me do the washing up! Parents hey! A company I have used for spares and have offered great service is: www. I have no connection just a satisfied customer. Hi Jason and team,echo every thing that has been said,Jason has helped us out on several occasions ,particularly when we were told by one yard that our "play in the propeller coupling " was due to the key way being worn and would need lifting ,maybe new shaft etc etc and dont go to far in the boat!!!!

We had to get to Sutton that day but Diane was worried about what we had been told. Moored above the bridge and called into Jason who told us to bring the boat in for a look. Within the hour it was fixed, as the nut on the end of the shaft was loose and must have been when we bought the boat as there was always a clunk when going into reverse which had now disappeared.

You would go far to find a yard who would do this on a Saturday morning. It is service like this that you tell your friends about. Keep up the good work. Being new to boating and not at all nautical my wife and I decided to take the plunge and buy a boat , however where do we start??? I decided to buy some Motorboat magazines and then got the shock of how many types of boats there were. . . . Do I want diesel or petrol??? There were a number of brokers and boat sales in the area but we decided to go to NYA Norfolk Yacht Agency as they seemed to have the largest selection on one place. Not being totally sure on what sort of boat we wanted we met one of the staff to discuss what would be the best type of boat for us and costs of moorings and running costs. We were looking to spend a couple of years on the Norfolk Broad's and then possibly venturing a bit further afield. The staff at NYA were very helpful and informative and showed us over a number of boats which were well presented including a Hardy all of which were in the vicinity of their office.

They ran through mooring and running costs and even went out of the way to have a ring round and see if there were any available berths in the local marina. After looking over the boats at Horning they recommended that we go over to their Brundall site and look over a couple of boats there which they thought would match what we were looking for, They rang through to make sure the boats were available and even gave me some directions to their office!! After a short coffee break stop on Wroxham we ventured over to Brundall where we were met with manual railway crossing which seemed to stay shut for ages well seemed like it!!!!

We went into the main reception where we were greeted with a gorgeous baby black Labrador who seemed very pleased to see us. The salesman grabbed a bunch of keys and took us onto the marina to show us over the boats, he had a good sense of humour and knew his stuff , and again nothing seemed to be too much trouble and he went into the details on surveys, engine trials and how the buying process works. We have now completed on the sale of our new boat and would like to thank James and staff at NYA for all your help and support which made the buying process a breeze for us first time boaters and we will no doubt be back again!!! Steve, Tamar's a nice piece of kit. I doubt you'll be waiting long for a buyer. Good luck. Thanks for your kind words, Paul. To be fair, it has been quite a while since I've been in Norfolk Marine so maybe they have improved Just back from another trip afloat, v.

Pauline, we seem to have a similar taste in books. Oh, and I forgot Trollope - any or all of the Barsetshire novels. AND, of course, a complete Shakespeare, and an anthology of metaphysical poetry How big did you say this boat was? Personally, Peter, I don't think you're being uncharitable. I realise we're not in possession of all the facts but, Hickling is hardly the Bering Sea and unless the boat was sinking and lives were at risk, calling for a lifeboat is a criminal waste of a very important service. I suppose we shouldn't be too shocked though as we're living in a society where mindless cretins have been known to call for emergency services when their satellite receiver fails!

Deleted; Duplicated post. We survived the day and what a day, 'awesome' doesn't really do it justice. Best bit for me was overtaking dedicated 'Track' bikes on numerous occasions, i would have loved to see the look of surprise on the riders faces as we came past! Never saw any Honda hornets but they would have been in the baby group no doubt So as a result I hope to be in a better position to deal with 'Incidents' on forthcoming rides down to Stalham. Bought a cd with some cracking photos of the pair of us on the circuit but still cannot post as puter not back from fixers as of yet Borrowing daughters laptop just now Griff'Broad Ambition' - 'Dreams do come true' - Afloat at last www. Apologies, not sure how that message ended up in the Hire Boat section as I haven't been in that section.

Hope someone can move it to General Discussion where it was intended to go. Apologies again. I have oil in the bilge, and it is not from the engine. We'll be on our way down tomorrow Len so may see you around, good news for you. Even tho' the Bubble Car Museum has closed, your favourite Cafe is still open. Have great one! We have a guy in sunny Hythe who regularly rides to the pub in full wild west gear, ties said animal up on the railings and then moseys into the o! saloon for a pint. A great bit of local colour! This originally appeared as a duplicate message after I got some kind of error message on posting. I'll let a moderator delete this one! Sounds like a nice place to take the wife!!! Regards Lord Paul ncsl. Damn Now I,m in for it. Must had studderededdeed Wheres Miss Whiplash? Hi Dibbler, forgot about this thread until today and thought I'd post our diesel price from Richardsons, Stalham, at the end of our holiday on 11th Sept. Are there any advances on this price?

The answer, as has been suggested before, is to beat the system by filling up elsewhere before returning to the yard! And there's me thinking all these 'skull and crossbones' flags on hire boats were put there by the hirers! I have not heard about this issue with condenser. Has anyone else? No harm in seeing how the other half lives! Even been known to visit the canals myself. I loved it, my wife did not like all the hopping on and off at locks and bridges though. In my search for the perfect 'stinkie' I have even been known to wander inland, where I think I found it! Jenny Morgan, A vane, a boat, but not a bird. The Broads, not a National Park, thankfully.

Mooring at Somerleyton it is only a short walk -5 mins to the garage next to the Post Office in the village. Open between 8am and 5. I deleted the photobucket photos at some point, and the originals were lost in a hard disk crash. I've posted two photos here: www. Great story Dennis. Richard have you got anyone lined up to do these goods? If you moor at the Quay then Tesco is probably a little closer, but there isn't much in it. John, Would be worth adding that if you moor up at Pyes Mill for petrol at Loddon, Hales Service Station is a lot closer to walk to from there. We are not in a marina, but have been on private moorings for several years. I'd like power, but otherwise am happy.

Q3: Do you think the broads has enough private moorings Yes, the system can be overloaded. Q4: Do you think there is enough room for another Marina on the broads? We have several untaxed, possibly uninsured boats afloat in our yard and I dare say with no BSS who never go on the river ,but they have worked on their boats for the last few years using power and even the odd blowlamp at times. I can see that this could be a risk for surrounding boats ,but would you then apply the insurance requirement to the boats ashore only feet away from the floating ones who are being worked on or stored. Also can they legally enter what is essentially private property ,which is what our Basin is? Hi all sadly just got back from a superb week on the Broads. The boat was ready and waiting for us, the staff were very friendly and helpfull.

I would definately reccomend them to anyone visiting the broads. It is still my favourite watering hole, and i've visited quite a lot of pubs on the Broads. I still can't get over how friendly everyone is. The week started off well when we met up with Paul and his lovely family at Yarmouth on Sunday. Spent the night there at the yachting station may I also thank the staff there for a good night and on Monday went to Norwich.

Tuesday and Wednesday were spent at Reedham where we were entertained with a great folk music night at the Lord Nelson. Thursday we tried to get to Wroxham but couldn't make it in time so moored up at the windmill shop. Friday we got to Wroxham but there was no way we could have got under the bridge so we turned round and went to Horning. My brother phoned me saying he was visiting his other half's aunt so we met up at the Swan Inn for a bevvy or ten. This is another pub that I highly reccomend, good food, nice beer and a great welcome. Took the boat back Saturday morning suffering from a hangover and end of holiday blues.

Thankfully didn't bump into old shuck. One of the things I miss about the Lake District Not for younger members eyes though so took it out along with the follow up post Hi Spanishjohn, that sign is a classic. JM, I don't normally post here, so get this one deleted when you can, since I'm hijacking your thread! I love your pics and those colours are something else but I couldn't resist posting this Pity about the power cable being in the shot! We still get your nice colours over here though! Best regards, The Crappy Snapper! Elect and water at craft, and car parking near. Toilet and shower available on site. I like Jenny's warm man idea. Let me know if there's one going spare with boat in tow Jenny Not too sure what I did there but there's now two of me Excuse the repetition guys Sorry, double post! Many thanks for your replies. Have decided that to big a job to tackle with no experience!

Can anybody suggest anybody on the Southern Broads who could carry out the work? Have tried one company for an estimate but they never came back to me!!! I ask myself why!!! Is it that hard a job! A lawyer arrived at the Pearly Gates and was met by St. Peter. The lawyer questioned St. Peter why he was there: "I am only 50 years old" St. Peter checked his books and replied, "According to your billable hours you are supposed to be That's the one. I'll take your word for it Robin and keep an eye out for it at other pubs and try it again. In the meantime I'll give that particular pub a miss. I truly hope they don't do mail-order pump outs! I am looking to find someone who needs a boat share partner in their boat must be an old style sail boat.

Christopher cockerall lived in Hythe Hampshire I have often walked passed his house and he tested his hovercraft on the Isle of Wight. Hi Vic I know of a Ken Groom. He used to own Belough Boats which was upstream from Wroxham towards Coltishall. I have hired from him on many occasions back in the 70's and early 80's. He then sold the boatyard to the people who later moved the yard to Stalham ie Moonfleet Marine. Try giving Phil Lawton at Moonfleet a ring or e-mail, as I'm sure that Ken keeps in regular touch with them. I would imagine it's the same Ken Groom that you know. Well, Richard started out over here, went over there, then eventually saw the error of his ways, and came back! Trouble is, a lot of stuff starts out over there, makes its way over here, and never leaves Karen "Wind up the elastic band Karen - we're setting off!! Sorry, posted a reply to another thread and for some reason it ended up here. Is it not possible to delete one's own postings? Sorry, I'm having some serious senior moments here.

The Punt Club at Barton www. Their obvious interest is in building up the expertise within the club to provide rescue boat operators and improve members' enjoyment of their boating but, bearing in mind the relative low level of many club's membership fees and the fact that they have moorings or access to moorings, it may be worth joining. Phil Oops, a double post. Mods please delete. One point that all posters do not appear to have mentioned so far is that if you DO go off the road on the Acle straight and go down into the ditch alongside, then you are highly likely to roll upside-down due to the forces and motions involved. If you do that then it is likely that your bonnet and windscreen are going to be underwater while you dangle there in your seatbelt watching your airbags deflate.

An attempt to open your door to escape is likely to be unsuccessful as the top of the door will tend to wedge against the tapering bank of the dyke, nor will there be much room if you can get the window open as the "cushion" of vegetation, even in winter, will tend to close off the gap between the car and the bank of the dyke. Your attempt to get out through the side is likely to be rewarded by a flood of freezing cold, black and stinking oozy dykewater.

Your best option might be to try and get out via the back window, always assuming it is clear of the water and that you can break it out, and that you can get back there to it in the dark and with the vehicle inverted. I can think of few situations that would be more likely to cause me to totally panic than the claustrophobic horror of this one, and no-one should be surprised at the number of drowning fatalities that follow "ditching". I always drive at no more than 50mph even in good conditions and when the road is quiet, for who can tell when a blowout or mechanical problem will occur?
